NOT ONLY A NEW WING, BUT NEW ADMINISTRA TION AND FACULTY

Although little things about our school differ from year to year, the changes have never been as great as the ones that have taken place this past year. A new wing was added as an addition to our ever-growing school, there was a complete change in administration, and two new faculty members were added to the staff. Changes as beneficial as these enable our school to be the best.

Above: Mr. Ruhe presents Mr. Hardy with a certificate of appreciation in helping make the new wing a reality.

Above right: It was an honor to have previous board members present at this important event.

Right: The O-G School Board members are recognized for all the efforts that they put into the new wing.

Far right: The student/faculty choir entertained us with the singing of the Alma Mater and The Benediction.

Right: I thought the pop was for the DANCE, Tom!

The yearbooks are here!!

Above: Anyone who misses a deadline jumps! (Yes, there are piranha in there)

The yearbook that you have before you is the result of many hours of hard work throughout the school year. The members of the staff have given 150% in order to bring you an extraordinary book. A list of the members follows, so that you can see who did what page. If you like something, tell them! If you dislike something, sign up to be on the yearbook staff and change it!

 Elaine Schnipke—14-27, 140, 141, 146-149, 152-154

There are several other people who deserve a special thank you. They are: Mrs. Phillips and Mrs. Hughes, who served as our advisers; Fred Henderson, our Herff Jones Sales Representative; Sheri Goecke and Nancy Nienberg, the two talented seniors who designed the cover for the book; and the parents who helped out at the Sweetheart Dance. Pictures for our book came from a variety of sources. In addition to our staff photographers, we would like to thank H.A. Powell Studios for taking our senior pictures, photographing picture days, and for providing us with film and processing. The Sentinel was generous with their pictures when we needed more of our fall sports. The basketball tournament pictures were donated by Larry Dickerhoof, a free lance photographer, H.A. Powell Studios, The Lima News, and the Findlay Courier. A special thank you to Kevin Bockrath and his photography class for developing film for us when we were too close to a deadline to send pictures out.

Julie Gerding, our editor, got to do all of the odd jobs that were necessary, but that nobody else wanted to do. The sky was her limit when she took ad pictures. She did a great job pulling the whole book together. Many of the staff members came in during study halls and did extra work, which enabled us to meet all of our deadlines on time.

We are grateful to our advertisers. This year the staff raised $5,000 in ad sales. This kept the base price of the book at $20, rather than $30. We appreciate their patronage, and we hope that you will take the time to read the ad section, and to patronize our advertisers. This year a sponsor page was added for "Don't Drink and Drive," a message we feel is important. We appreciate all of our sponsors' donations.

This is the first year that the yearbook staff has had a class period. A special thank you to Mr. Cunningham, Mr. Ruhe, and the School Board for granting us this time.

This year the yearbook was sold by a mail campaign. Book presales were up over 25%. A record 450 books were ordered from Herff Jones. The type style was Optima for all copy and Century Schoolbook for all headlines.

Most of our thanks goes to you, our readers. Without your support, this book would not be possible. If you think this book was good, wait until next year! "You ain't seen nothing yet!!!"

Jill is always on the lookout for a yearbook story.

PRESENTING 1987 IN REVIEW

Much thanks goes to Wide World Photos for bringing us through 1987 in style. From Oliver North and the Iran-Contra Hearings to the Minnesota Twins winning the World Series, 1987 was filled with many exciting and shocking happenings.

Marine Lt. Col. Oliver North became a national celebrity with his picture adorning T-shirts and posters after the Iran-Contra Hearings in Washington. North was a key official in the plan to finance rebels in Nicaragua with money from arm sales in Iran.

Pope Paul II was greeted upon his arrival in Miami by the President and Mrs. Reagan. Miami was only the beginning of his nine-city tour of the United States.

Gary Hart, Democratic Presidential candidate, was forced to drop out of the race for the presidency after it was reported that he was romantically involved with Donna Rice, a 29-year-old aspiring actress and model from Miami.

"Black Monday": $500 Billion was stripped from the market value of U.S. securities as the largest stock market crash in U.S. history was recorded on October 19. The Dow Jones industrial stock average dropped 508 points causing many people to worry and lose invested money.

Television evangelists Jim and Tammy Faye Bakker said farewell to the PTL ministry in March. Jim Bakker resigned after confessing to a sexual encounter with a young woman. Tammy Bakker bowed out of the broadcasts to undergo treatment for drug dependency. Less than a year later, Jimmy Swaggart also stepped down from his ministry due to alleged sexual misconduct.

"Public Health Enemy #1": AIDS. In the six years since America first heard of this mysterious immunity-robbing disease from which no one recovers, AIDS has killed nearly 25,000 Americans.

The 24 day NFL strike ended in mid-October when the NFL players union went to court instead of trying to fight the club owners at the bargaining table.

Kaye Lani Rae Rafko, Miss Michigan, was crowned Miss America 1988 when she shook up the talent competition with a Polynesian dance.

After 25 years of dancing in top hat and tails with Ginger Rogers and other stars, Hollywood's elegant Fred Astaire died of Pneumonia in June at the age of 88.

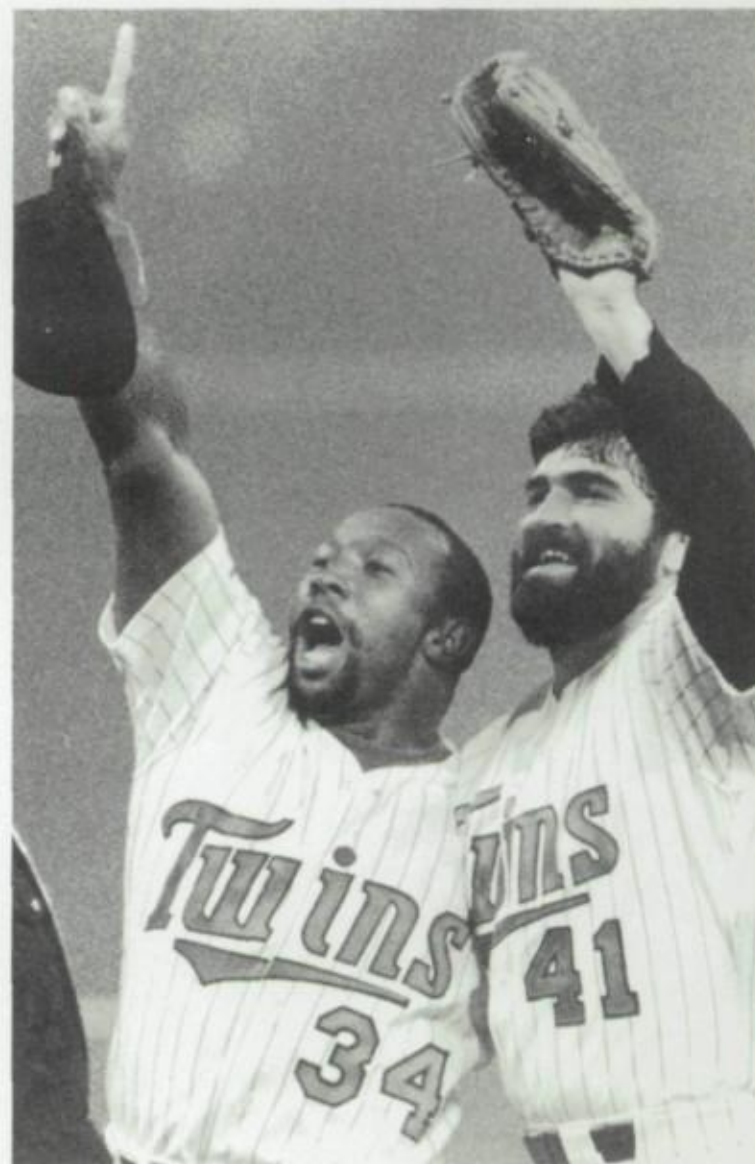

In February, at the age of 67, Liberace, the glittering showman and pianist who captivated fans for four decades with an imitable personal and musical style, died quietly at his home.

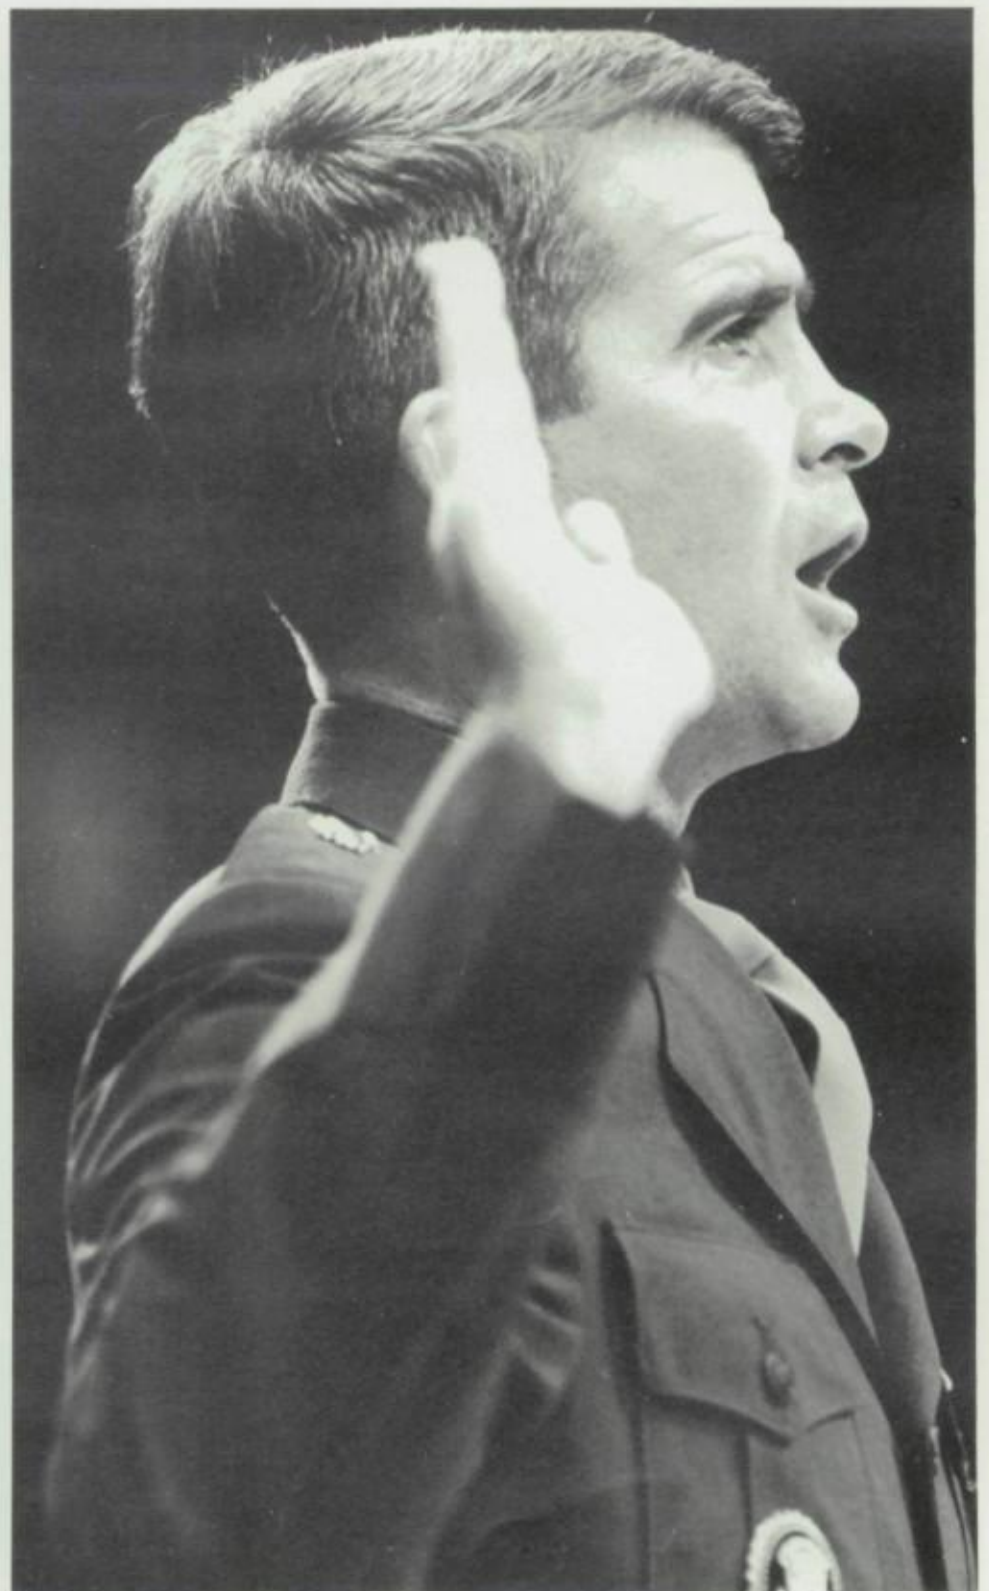

Jackie Gleason, the rotund "Greek Man" who got laughs and riches as a blustering bus driver in the television series "The Honeymooners," died in June at the age of 71.

Lorne Green who for 14 years played the firm but gentle father to the three sons on television's "Bonanza," died at the age of 72.

Jeff Reardon and Kirby Puckett of the Minnesota Twins celebrate their World Series victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. The Twins won the seventh and final game of the series 4-2.

Effective July 31, 1987, the legal drinking age was moved up to twenty-one from nineteen years of age.

NOW YOU KNOW THE REST OF THE STORY:

Right: YOU KNOW YOUR PARENTS ARE MAD

WHEN ... they start yelling and tell you to start moving your belongings out into the barn—Jill Verhoff ... you come home late one night and all the locks on the doors are changed—Joan Ellerbrock ... they ground you for weeks at a time so then they know you'll miss something on one of the weekends—Shelly Kuhlman ... their eyes are bulging and you can count the veins in their neck—Eric Schmenk ... they don't get upset when you tell them you're moving out; they help you pack—Nanette Teders ... instead of just yelling your first name, your middle name kind of slips in there—Dean Mayhew.

Below: YOU KNOW THE TEACHER MEANS BUSINESS WHEN

... he hits the desk as hard as he can with a yard-stick—Jesse Nieto ... they stop everything and don't say a word until everyone is quiet—Cathy Dimas ... they start using words you don't understand—Eric Schmenk ... you walk in the class and he/she is dressed all in leather, with a whip—Dean Mayhew ... he/she gets out the chainsaw—Joan Ellerbrock ... they start talking in dollars and cents—Lisa Meyer ... they walk into the classroom and have a funny look on their face as they turn toward the class—Erin Leopold ... she looks at you like you just fed her baby dog food—Dave Cole ... they walk in the room and start to lecture you when you're not even ready—Sandy Buddelmeyer.

IF YOU COULD BE A MEMBER OF THE OPPOSITE SEX, WHO WOULD YOU BE AND WHY??? Eddie Murphy: He's funny and makes people laugh and he's rich—Lori Patton; Mr. Davis: He's a good partier—Shelly Boyd; Patrick Swayze: He is gorgeous and he can sing, dance, and act—Jodi Buddelmeyer; Vanna White—You decide!!—Carl Siefker; Brad "Shoey" Schomaeker: He is good looking, great basketball player, and the way it sounds, he knows how to have a good time. He seems very humorous—Heather Gulgin.

A SURVEY OF STUDENTS THOUGHTS

YOU KNOW YOU'RE BUSTED WHEN . . . you see the cherries flashing in your rearview mirror—Lori Patton . . . when a teacher asks if your parents are forgiving people—Jesse Nieto . . . when your mom asked you what you did last night and smiles—Jenny Dehnart . . . when you come home late and the doors are locked—Jill Hilvers . . . when Mrs. Borgelt looks at you, then starts to write—Jodi Hilvers . . . when your parents call you by your full name—Cathy Dimas . . . when your mom starts yelling like a lunatic—Freddy Arrizola . . . you're in the hall without a hall pass, and as you round the corner, you run into Mr. Sweet—Joanna Doecker . . . you hear your name on the morning announcements—

Scott Salsburey . . . when your Junior B.O.E. teacher tells your boyfriend everything you say about him—Elaine Schnipke . . . you come home late and your parents are out looking for you—Sarah Palte . . . everyone else around you is smiling and you don't what's so funny—Amy Smith . . . when the teacher just looks at you and grins—Dean Mayhew . . . when your sister catches you kissing HER boyfriend—Melinda when your parents have to pick you up in the middle of the night from a party you're not supposed to be at—Jessica Okuley . . . Mrs. Norris uses her authority to give you demerits—Economics Class.

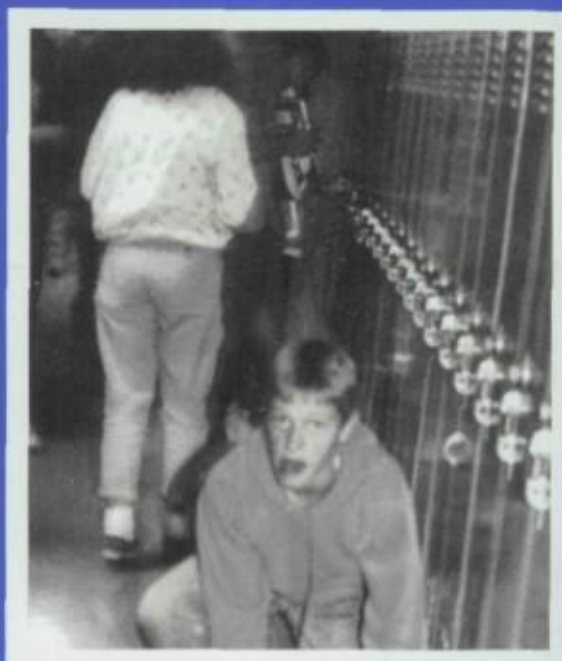

IT IS EASY TO RECOGNIZE A BROWN NOSER BECAUSE . . . they are the ones that ask a lot of questions in class—Lori Patton . . . they answer even the rhetorical questions—Erin Ducey . . . they bring a gift for the teacher at Christmas—Paul Weber . . . they are always talking and running errands for the teachers—Kris Sutter . . . they are the ones that laugh at the teacher's stupid jokes—Bob Hoorman . . . they are the first ones to raise their hands—Matt Croy.

YOU KNOW IT'S GOING TO BE A BAD DAY WHEN . . . you pour orange juice on your frosted flakes—Eric Hovest . . . you wake up and MTV is pre-empted by a presidential news conference—Jesse Nieto . . . you wake up on Friday and think it's Monday—Erin O'Malley . . . you trip on the steps and your books go flying in front of everyone—Shelly Kuhlman . . . there's no soap in the shower, your deodorant stick breaks and falls apart, your car runs out of gas on the way to pick up your girlfriend, and you find out, after you ran the rest of the way that she found another way to school. Then, when you do get to school, you find out you didn't do your English book report—Denny VonderEmbse . . . you come to school with two different shoes on, like Kim Barber did—Kris Kaufman . . . your bad-tasting toothpaste turns out to be Preparation H—Nanette Teders . . . you wake up knowing you have to go to school—Mike Coleson.

YOU KNOW SOMEONE IS A FRESHMAN BECAUSE . . . he has no idea which way is up or down—Dave Cole; . . . they carry their entire locker to class and are the ones wandering around looking for the elevator—Amy Smith; . . . they are always picking up their books in the hallway; they're last in the lunch line—Eric Hovest; . . . they're the ones who run down the halls between classes afraid of being late—Heather Gulgin; . . . they walk around with their head up in the air, not because they're stuck up, but because they are looking for the numbers on the doors—Dean Mayhew; . . . they ask the stupidest questions, like, "Where's the cafeteria?"—Cindy Velasquez; . . . you can sell them an elevator pass—Steve Kersh; . . . their books are always flying around because seniors run down the halls and knock them over—Melissa Hoyt; . . . they're singing "We Love You Seniors" during lunch—Joanna Doecker

YOU KNOW SOMEONE IS A SOPHOMORE BECAUSE . . . they boss freshmen around—Cheryl Recker; . . . they won't admit they were a freshman—Cindy Velasquez; . . . during lunch they feel it is their duty to sit along the hallway wall and hold it up—Michelle Duling; . . . they can't park in the parking lot straight—Bonnie Schuller; . . . they are telling freshmen what to do because they're not freshmen any more—Heather Gulgin; . . . they are "Big Time" downstairs, but when they come upstairs, they are a little more calm—Chris Dorn

YOU KNOW SOMEONE IS A JUNIOR BECAUSE . . . they're the only ones who talk to the seniors because the freshmen and sophomores are scared—Lana Birkemeier; they don't have any worries other than their first prom and they usually go out with freshman girls—Denny VonderEmbse; . . . they talk about how much fun next year will be—Marlene Borgelt; . . . they sit in the Blue Crew section with the Seniors, and try to act like Seniors—Nanette Teders; . . . they study all the time trying to pass so they can just slide the next year—Cathy Dimas

YOU KNOW YOU'RE STYLISH WHEN . . . you see about 10 other people with the same clothes on—Vicki Jerwers; . . . you don't look like Tammy Baker—Jay Fye; . . . Ray Diemer looks at you twice—Erin Ducey

YOU KNOW SOMEONE IS A SENIOR BECAUSE . . . they're not afraid of the teachers—Cheryl Recker; . . . they have no idea what is going on, but they pretend they do—Eric Schmenk; . . . they never have anything to do and they're in the Blue Crew—Erin Ducey; . . . they take their time strolling to classes and they're the ones who yell at their friends from opposite ends of the hall just to have fun—Heather Gulgin; . . . they don't carry any books—Sheri Goecke; . . . they make it to class just as the bell rings and see how mad they can get their teachers—Nanette Teders; . . . they run around in the halls in the morning and talk to everybody, they're loud, and they like to have fun all the time—Jodi Buddelmeyer; . . . they really don't have a care in the world and they're talking about graduation and different colleges—Jill Verhoff; . . . all they do is party—Scott Salsburey; . . . they are counting down the days til graduation—Julie Uphaus; . . . they say, "After this year, I'm outta here!"—Jackie Rosengarten; . . . they pass out senior pictures and have the most spirit—Patti Alvarez; . . . they're the first ones in line at lunch—Shelly Kuhlman

THE ROAD WON'T BE LONELY IF WE CAN SAY AT THE END, WE WALKED THE WAY TOGETHER HAND IN HAND WITH A FRIEND

SPIRIT WEEK BUILDS ENTHUSIASM FOR THE BIG HOMECOMING GAME

As a tradition, O-G students participate in a spirit week during the week before the Homecoming game. Many students participated by dressing up this year. Students dressed up as everything from McDonald's workers to happy tourists. This year's special days were: Monday—50's and 60's Day; Tuesday—Pajama/Toga/Western Day; Wednesday—Career/Celebrity Day; Thursday—Hawaiian Day; Friday—Blue and Gold Day.

HOMECOMING: AN AWESOME TIME

Throughout the entire school, enthusiasm was spread as students started preparing for the 1987 Homecoming festivities.

Many ideas dealing with this year's theme, Comedy, were being combined as each class built their float for the parade. The float "Wipe Out," presented by the Freshmen, won first place, followed by the Sophomore Float, Junior Float, and the Senior Float in last place.

Everything seemed to breeze by us during Homecoming Week. There were ballots to be counted and totaled to determine who this year's King and Queen would be. Finally, after waiting, Friday came. The game was against St. Mary's. Sharon Koch was crowned Queen and Scott Buckland was crowned King. Their court consisted of attendants Tekla Dillinger and Kathy Doecker, along with their escorts Tim Schmitz and Scott Yant. The Junior attendant and escort was Kelly Hohenbrink and Brent Racer. Representing the Sophomore Class was Kim Recker and Eddy Kim. The Freshmen Members of the court were Stacy Ellerbrock and Shane Piotrosky.

The festive night of the Homecoming Dance is a memory most of us will always smile upon. The night was filled with friends having a good time, while the King and Queen reigned over the events. Fusion filled the school gymnasium and halls with their hot sounds until 11:30 p.m. The Student Council and Homeroom Reps did a wonderful job preparing for the dance. They also did a great job on clean up so that we could get back to normal on Monday—just in time for our classes!!

WHAT A CIRCUS! AIR FORCE BAND FLIES OVER EDGE OF T.G.I.F.

The fall activities included three impressive assemblies. The Air Force Band of Flight, from Wright-Patterson Air Force Base brought the O-G student body to their feet as they rocked the house. A band all the way from Tampa Bay, Florida, performed at O-G. They were known as The Edge. Next, we had a presentation called T.G.I.F. to more inform the student body about drugs. O-G even had a circus, which brought a lot of people to the shows, and the football practice field was trashed by their equipment sinking into the ground (due to heavy rains).

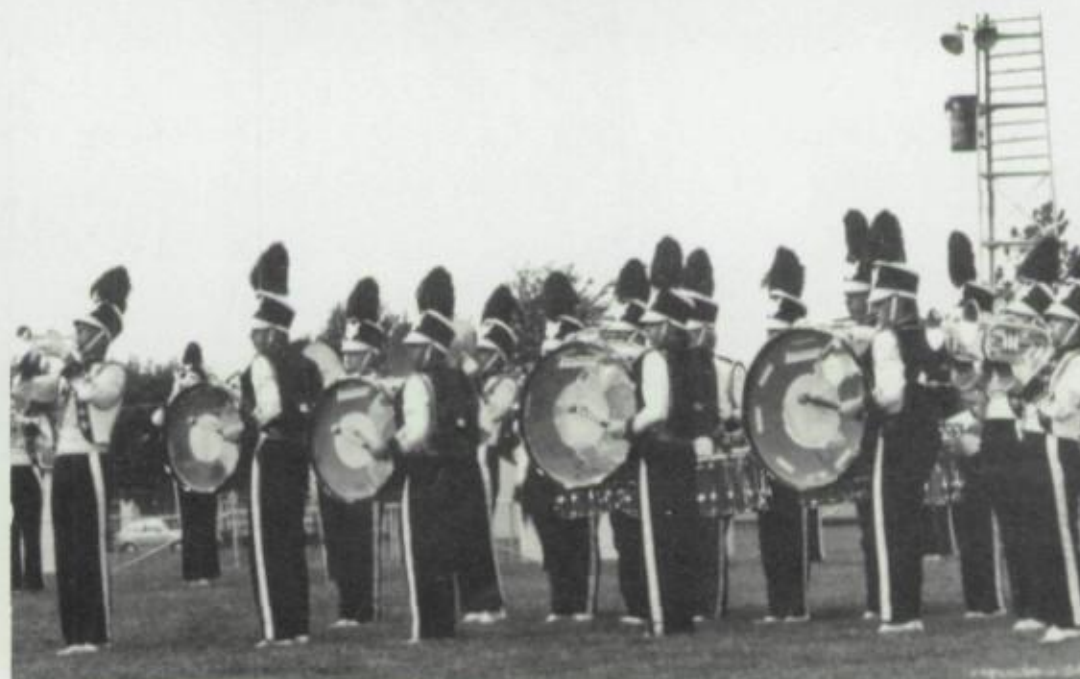

This group of seniors was waiting in the center of the football field to see if the bomb would really go off.

THE BAND IS SPECTACULAR!

The Band Spectacular was held on September 24, 1987 at 2:00 p.m. All bands that participated received a participation trophy.

'AND AGAIN' THE TITAN BRASS

A long, hot summer of preparation and continued rehearsals in the fall paid off for the Titan Brass this season. The band took a difficult corps-like competition show to several invitationals and did quite well each time.

The freshmen got a taste of what dedication is all about. For some, the transition from junior high to senior high school band was an easy one. But for others, it was not so easy. Some had to face the challenge of learning to play a different horn. The memorizing of music, drills, and routines sometimes was another bridge to cross, but this became easier with time.

Many seniors look back upon their own such memories of being "the new kids." They performed their final show November 6, the last home football game of the season. As the final note was played, memories of rehearsals, sectionals, friendships, competitions, and bus-rides (to football games) came flooding in . . .

At Piqua, the band received awards for best flags, drums, rifles, majorettes, and were the Class "B" Champs. At Grove City, Julie Uphaus won an award for best soloist. The band had overall best rifles, received second place for the majorettes, and won awards for best field commander and the Class "B" Champs at Lake. Finally, at Perkins, the band won best music, marching, general effect, field commander, guard, majorettes. They were also the Class "B" Champs.

LIBRARY CLUB DIRECTS SCHOLASTIC

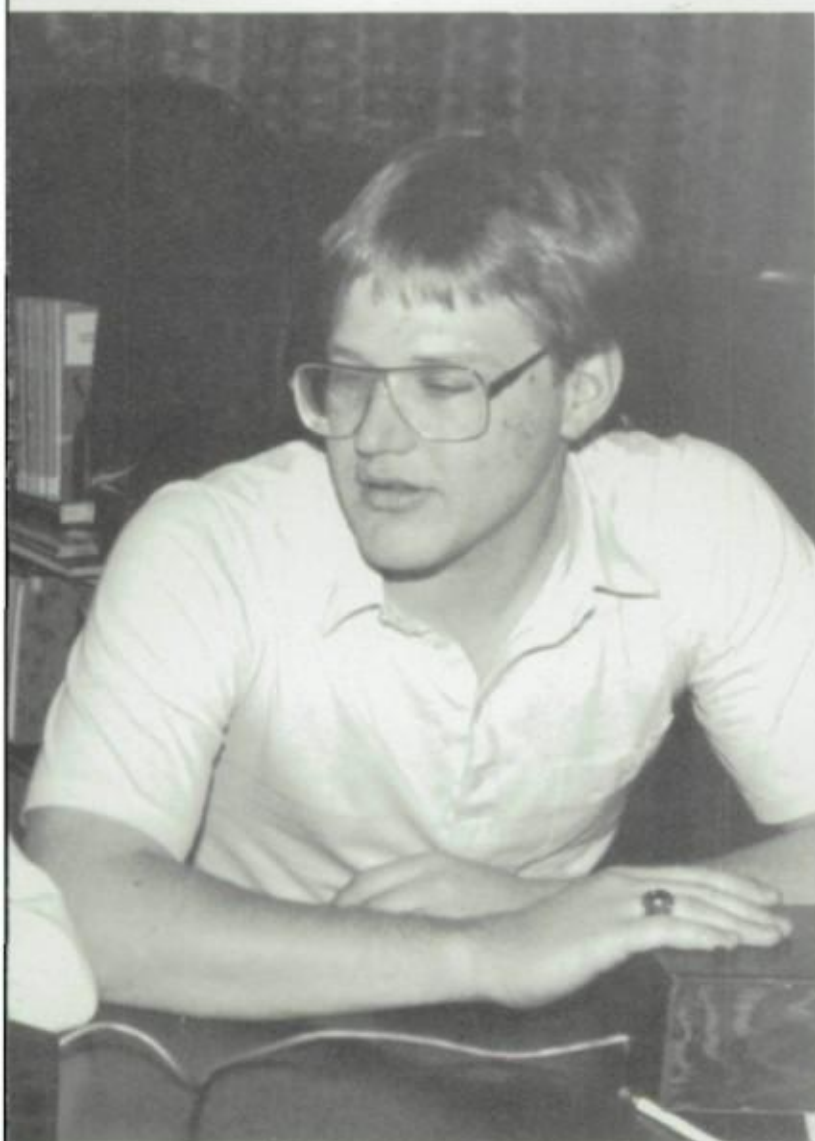

Under the supervision of Miss Macke and Mr. Lewis, the Academic bowl finished out another exciting season of questions and answers. Success in an Academic Bowl match depends on quick mental recall and a quick hand to the buzzer. These talented students put hours into honing these skills. Good job guys! See you on Jeopardy!

Row 1: Diane Kleman, Becky Hendrickson, Sara Palte, Julie Utendorf, Jodi Hilvers. Row 2: Joe Burwell, Tony Hageman, Nancy Nienberg.

The Library Club is a service organization. It is students serving other students and teachers; helping them to utilize the library facilities. Activities included monthly meetings, a field trip (this year to Lourdes College, Toledo), and the sponsoring of a scholarship program. Money for the scholarship will be raised by selling raffle tickets for an afghan.

GOLF TEAM SWINGS INTO ACTION

Winning fourth place in the district tournament was one of the highlights of the year for the golf team.

The team finished third place in both the Wayne Trace Invitational and the Ottoville Invitational. They also placed seventh in the WBL. Also, Brian Kuhlman, senior golfer, was runner up medalist in the Wayne Trace Invitational. Brian Ellerbrock, senior golfer, tied for fifth place in the Wayne Trace Invitational. In the Ottoville Invitational, Brian Ellerbrock was runner-up medalist. Brian Kuhlman led the team with an average of 40.4. Following close behind him was Brian Ellerbrock, with an even 41 average. Overall, the varsity record was 6-9.

The J.V. team ended the season with a 5-6 record. Leading the J.V. team was Dave Kreinbrink, with a 46.7 average, followed by Jason Fye with a 49.4 average.

A TOUGH SEASON BUILDS TOUGH PLAYERS

The 1987 football season was one of frustration and disappointment, although the team's determination was never doubted. According to Coach Stokes, the team wasn't as talented as other O-G teams of the past, but they put forth their best effort. The senior captains for the varsity team were Steve Kersh, Ray Diemer, Tony Fortman, and Jay Rieman. Despite the tough season, a few of the Titans gained recognition for their outstanding effort in the W.B.L. Tony and Mike Fortman and Lee Flores received special mention. Steve Kersh, Jay Rieman, and Greg Martin received honorable mention.

J.V. STRUG- GLES ... WINS

The J.V. Football Team also had a tough season with only one win and one tie. Early in the season, the freshmen team joined forces with the junior varsity due to injuries, causing a shortage of people on the freshman team. The two teams worked well together, and the season was ended on a good note—a victory.

VARSITY ROLLERCOASTS THROUGH A TOUGH SEASON

The Varsity Volleyball Team ended with the record of 8-12. The girls had their ups and their downs during this season. To help the girls get into the spirit, everyone decorated each other's lockers before each game. This really helped everyone get into the action. The team ended the season at Paulding with sectional tournaments. At sectionals, O.G. defeated Wayne Trace in the first game, but in the second, they were defeated by Wauseon. This is the first time in many years that the O-G Volleyball Team has won a game at Sectionals. Congratulations girls!

MAKING HISTORY AT O.G.

Some of the students shared their opinion their history class. They were asked what they would remember about History Class in ten years. Vince Barry said, "When Mr. Clark told us his good jokes and stories." "When I think of Civics Class, I think of Mr. Leis and how he made the class more interesting, especially on game nights when he wore his Titan Spirit Outfits!" - Leah Schweller, Kim Verhoff, Becky Siefker, Cara Moening. "In Sociology Class we learned how to relate to different people and cultures. It helped us to understand that people are not all equal." - Wendy Leopold, Sheri Goecke

Left: On April 8, 1988 Representative Lynn Wachtman came to speak to the Senior Class about politics and current issues. His visit lasted about three hours. At that time, he was running for re-election.

MATH AND COMPUTER CLASSES BROADEN AND BOGGLE OUR MINDS

Math classes may brighten some people's day, but the majority of the students say that Math is one of the worst classes. No offense to the teachers - we think they're some of the best. Math just seems to be one of the more difficult classes and we like to look for the easiest way out of everything. Computer class, on the other hand, seems to be a very popular class. Most students who take the class enjoy it and have no complaints.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLASS CATCHES

The Business Department in our school is composed of Accounting I and II, General Business, Record Keeping, Economics, Typing, and Personal Typing classes. In these classes, the students learn how to cope with business-like situations and succeed. The Photography classes learn all the basics about taking pictures and developing them in their own dark room.

GUIDANCE OFFICE GUIDES US THROUGH THE YEAR

The School Board hired a new guidance counselor, Miss Jo Roth. This is her first year of guidance counseling experience. Previously, she taught English at Ottoville High School.

Mr. Larry Burkhardt, the other guidance counselor, has been counseling for 15 years at Ottawa-Glandorf High School.

They welcome students to come in and ask for information for college or for next year's courses. They will also help students who have problems and need advice to solve their differences.
